A FAREWELL AND A WELCOME

For five years, from 1925 to 1930, Rev. Erle G. Bartlett, S.J., was Honorary President of the Alumni. During those years Father Bartlett won his way into the heart of every member of the Association, just as he has done with the hundreds of boys who have known him as teacher and rector.

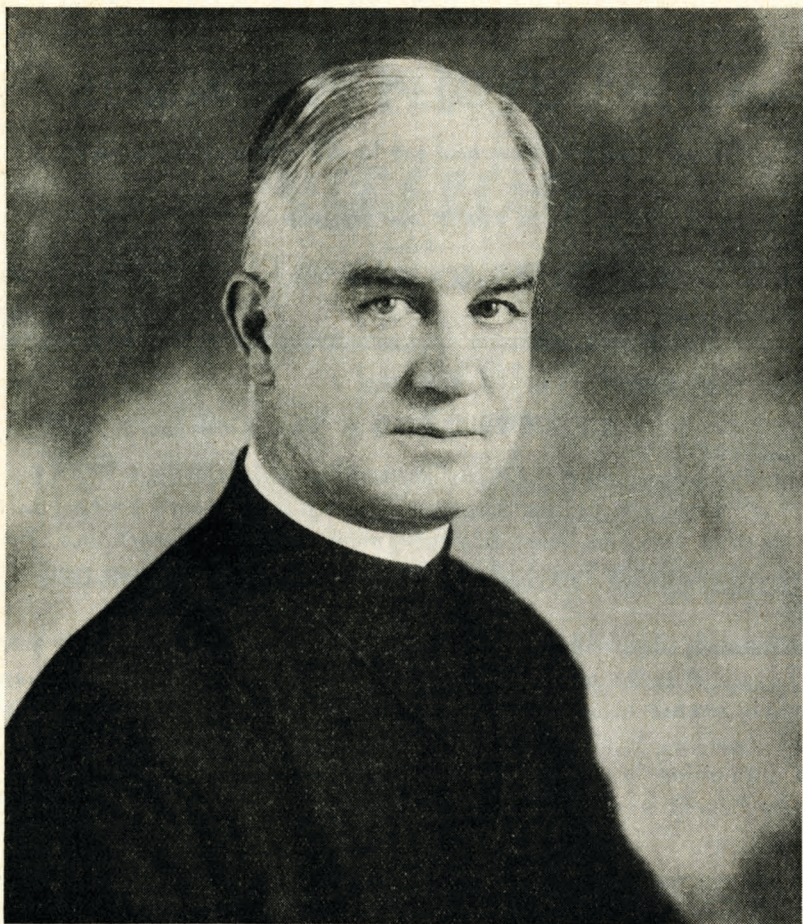

Generously and willingly, Father Bartlett gave of his valuable time to the Loyola Alumni and the members are not unmindful of the many enjoyable events brought about for their benefit through his instrumentality. One has but to recall the banquets, the meetings and, above all, the Communion breakfasts which were acknowledged by all to be of the greatest benefit in strengthening that bond of union between all Loyola's sons.

While we regret the removal of Father Bartlett from Loyola, we take consolation in the fact that others will profit by his wise counsel and guidance as have those he has but recently left, and so we wish him all possible success in his new appointment.

While we bid farewell to Rev. Father Bartlett, we welcome the arrival of Rev. T. J. McMahon, S.J., amongst us.

When the Loyola of today existed only in the minds of those who later brought about its existence, Father McMahon was a pupil in the English course at St. Mary's. For five years preceding his ordination he was professor at Loyola, and from 1912 to 1917 Loyola knew him as Rector.

Knowing the great achievements of which Father McMahon is capable, one does not hesitate to predict great things for the Alumni. In welcoming Rev. Father McMahon as the new Honorary President, there but remains to say that whatever he shall undertake for the advancement of Loyola, he can depend upon the wholehearted co-operation of the Alumni. —F.M.

A WORD OF WELCOME

It is with unfeigned pleasure that I welcome this new number of "THE LOYOLA ALUMNUS." Alma Mater, whose humble spokesman I am here, follows with keenest interest every one of her Alumni—she rejoices when they rejoice; when they weep, she weeps with them—she exalts when they succeed, she sorrows when they fail. And, just as she does not forget them, she loves to think that they have not forgotten her. She treasures the least token of remembrance or of filial affection coming from them. This new venture of theirs she welcomes with open arms and gives it her maternal blessing. Vivat! Floreat! Crescat!

FATHER RAYMOND CLORAN, S.J.

by Right Rev. Gerald C. Murray, C.S.S.R., D.D., Bishop of Victoria

Father RAYMOND CLORAN, of the Society of Jesus, met death heroically on June 22nd, 1930. The tributes paid to his character and courage were well deserved.

Many of those who bowed in prayer at the funeral Mass, and in silent reverence followed his coffin knew him only as Father Cloran—the earnest and saintly priest. But there were some in that sad cortege, whose thoughts went back to college days. They whispered one to the other: “He was true to himself to the last.”

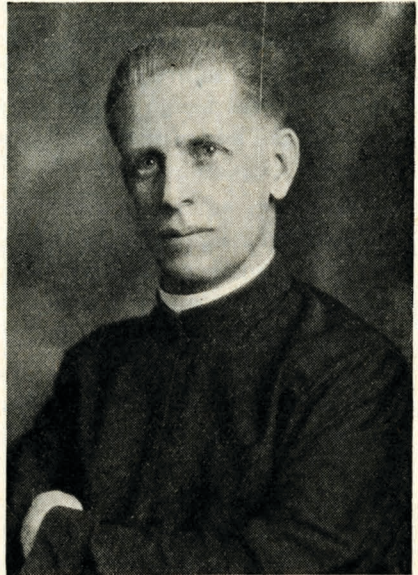

Raymond Cloran was always full of energy, he went at things with his head down. No one was ever known to “stop” him.

As a comparatively small boy, he engaged in single combat with a fellow student of Montreal College. His antagonist was of the same mettle. They struggled through the evening recreations, each defending, to his own way of thinking, a righteous cause. When the bell rang for night prayers, the youthful gladiators, bearing unmistakable evidence of their encounter, hurried to the Chapel and, evading the watchful eye of the Prefect, breathed an atmosphere of peace.

Loyola offered fewer occasions for radical differences of opinion, but Raymond’s persistent earnestness had wide scope in other fields.

As a student, he “plugged” at his books, when necessary. When there was no immediate call for intensive study, he drove the energy of his being into other channels.

In Football, he played on the line. In view of his lack of weight and height, you might be inclined to think that he could not be formidable at rugby. But he was. The essential elements of an athlete were in him. “grit” and “sand” may be closely allied, but he had plenty of each. When you were looking for weak spots in Loyola’s defensive wall, you naturally turned your eyes away from him. Offensively, he was a wiry body propelled and sometimes catapulted by an indomitable spirit.

He earned a place on the Hockey team that counted such stars as "Chubby" POWER and the late "Quigg" BAXTER. He played left wing. Not a brilliant stick-handler, not a particularly fast skater, he scored few goals. But defensively he was a tower of strength. His checking was close and fair, but it was persistent. He wore down an opponent and robbed many a star of brilliancy. He would not be skated off. And he was tireless. In those days of seven-man hockey there were no substitutes. You played through the entire game. I can still see him along the boards in the old Victoria Rink on Drummond Street urging his legs to carry a weary body, repeatedly saving his defence from menacing thrusts by the opposing forwards.

He carried the same qualities into his social life. As a friend he was devoted and absolutely true. Distance of time and place meant nothing to him. If he was for you—and I sincerely believe he never had an enemy—then you had one of the world's greatest gifts; the unselfish and unswerving loyalty of a generous heart.

Headlong, he cast himself into the service of Our Lord. He became a whole-souled religious. Not an inch of his being was withheld or withdrawn from the unreserved sacrifice he made of himself. He was a holy priest—a zealous and sympathetic hospital chaplain, an enlightened and kindly director of souls, a wise leader of boys and young men.

Then came a quiet Sunday afternoon in June. A cry for help broke its stillness. Father Raymond Cloran heard it. Heedless of danger, carried away by his impetuous, uncalculating devotedness, he plunged to his death. He had always gone at things with every ounce of energy he possessed, with his head down. That is why his old College-mates whispered, "He was true to himself to the end."

May we not fondly believe that when he sank exhausted into the waves, his head found a resting place on the Heart of Christ or rather that his heroic soul sped headlong, in characteristic fashion, into the waiting arms of Our Saviour.

A great honour has been conferred upon the "Alumnus" in that its first contributor should be the Right Reverend Gerald C. Murray, C.S.S.R., D.D., Bishop of Victoria, B.C., the first member of the Loyola Alumni to be raised to the episcopal rank. Bishop Murray writes of one whose untimely death brought sadness to the hearts of all Loyola's sons, the late Raymond Cloran, S.J. Bishop Murray is a graduate of the Class of '05. Father Cloran a graduate of '06.

It is indeed with pleasure that I join my fellow members in congratulating the editors of this booklet. They have worked hard and they have succeeded in giving us a splendid "first issue." They are deserving of our thanks and these we give unreservedly.

It is our hope that the "Alumnus" will carry to every member a message of good cheer, that it will revive old friendships and recall those numerous pleasant days of college life. May the "Alumnus" serve to unite old comrades and bring us together again in the happy bonds of association.

To the "Alumnus", we extend our very best wishes and, as we see it launched to the seven seas, we cry: "Long Life—Bon Voyage."

J. D. KING, President,
Loyola Alumni Association.

THE DIRECTORY

At the back of this booklet will be found a list of the Alumni, their occupations and their addresses. Would that we could say a 'complete' list. Out of over 1,700 members whose names are on the official list we have information concerning less than 25 per cent.

There are a few things that those who read these pages might well and seriously think over. In the first place, one man, two men or even five men cannot find out and tabulate the required information about 1,700 members. The task is a physical impossibility. Is there any way by which we can obtain the required data? Yes! How? Simply by having every member of the Alumni who reads this Magazine write down whatever he knows about any other member and forwarding this information to the Editor of "THE ALUMNUS."

No man can say what lies just around the corner in the future. Events may be in the making which will mean everything to our Alma Mater. One thing is certain, that whatever the future holds for Loyola will come to her only if those who have profited by her guidance will unite and work shoulder to shoulder for the achievement of the desired end.

Nothing comes without labour, and in the grasp of destiny may lie hidden that of which Loyola stands most in need.

We cannot consider ourselves united unless we can call upon each and every member of the association. We cannot call upon every member unless we know where he is and what he is doing. We can obtain this only through you, gentle reader. With you lies the ultimate well-being of the Loyola Alumni. Sit down! Write what you know about the various members; send it in. If each of the members listed in the index would only account for two other members, we would be a long way on the road towards a complete directory.

I think the case has been stated clearly enough. The need is evident. The remedy lies with the reader.
